Jigsaw Puzzle of Personal Growth As A Parent

RASTIMO ZAJEDNO (GROWING UP TOGETHER) CENTER FOR PARENTING SUPPORT

Parents also keep growing!
Through relationships with children & other parents

The activity was developed within the universal parenting support program Growing Up Together (Pećnik & Starc, 2010) and has been also used in program adaptations for specific populations (fathers; parents in adverse circumstances).

It enables parents to:

> reflect on how they have changed in response to meeting their child's needs, developed new competences and strengths through caring for and educating their child;

> follow their 'growth' in parental role during program participation, since at the end of each session they color a piece (or more) for most relevant new insight(s) accuired or decisions made regarding future behaviours.

On the final session, each parent selects the piece of their puzzle that they are proud of the most, and shares it with the group in a closing ceremony

Palak Shala- Parents' school

UNITED WAY MUMBAI

Where Parents & Children Learn, Play & Connect Together

Palak Shala (pronounced puh-luk shaa-laa) means "Parents' School" in Hindi.

It is a parent engagement initiative by United Way Mumbai, created around a simple idea: when parents have the right knowledge and support, they can play a stronger role in their child's early years.

Palak Shala brings parents and caregivers together to learn about children's health, nutrition, care and development through simple, practical activities. And play is part of that learning.

Games give parents and children a chance to spend time together, communicate, learn from each other and strengthen their bond.

Traditional games carry something more — they let parents pass on games, memories.

In India, where learning and growing up often happen within the family and across generations,

A Playful Parent Icebreaker

YAYASAN GENERASI GEMILANG

Cute Gets Parents Curious

Kita Main (We Play) is an early childhood development program that delivers free play kits and reading resources to low-income families with children aged 0 to 3.

To attract families to our sign-up booths in hospitals, our display of cute, low-cost (1.50€) soft plushies worked like magnets. Their instant appeal made parents curious. Children got excited. And we created an easy way to connect with families.

To win a plushie, parents completed a quick, three-card challenge: two questions and one silly reading activity. It turned our pre-survey into a fun icebreaker—helping us learn what parents believe, model fun reading styles, and introduce one important message: Learning starts early.

Parent-Child Summer Camp

HOME-START HUNGARY

A Week of Connection, Support and Shared Experiences where Families Thrive

Since 2023, we have been organising a Parent-Child Summer Camp, offering families a memorable, meaningful and relaxing week together.

While children enjoy playful activities and challenges during the day, parents can take part in workshops supporting their parental journey and personal development, focusing on creativity, cooperation, communication, resilience, family dynamics, parental guilt and balancing everyday life.

Families also enjoy quality time together, with three meals a day, childcare for toddlers, individual emotional support and opportunities to build new connections.

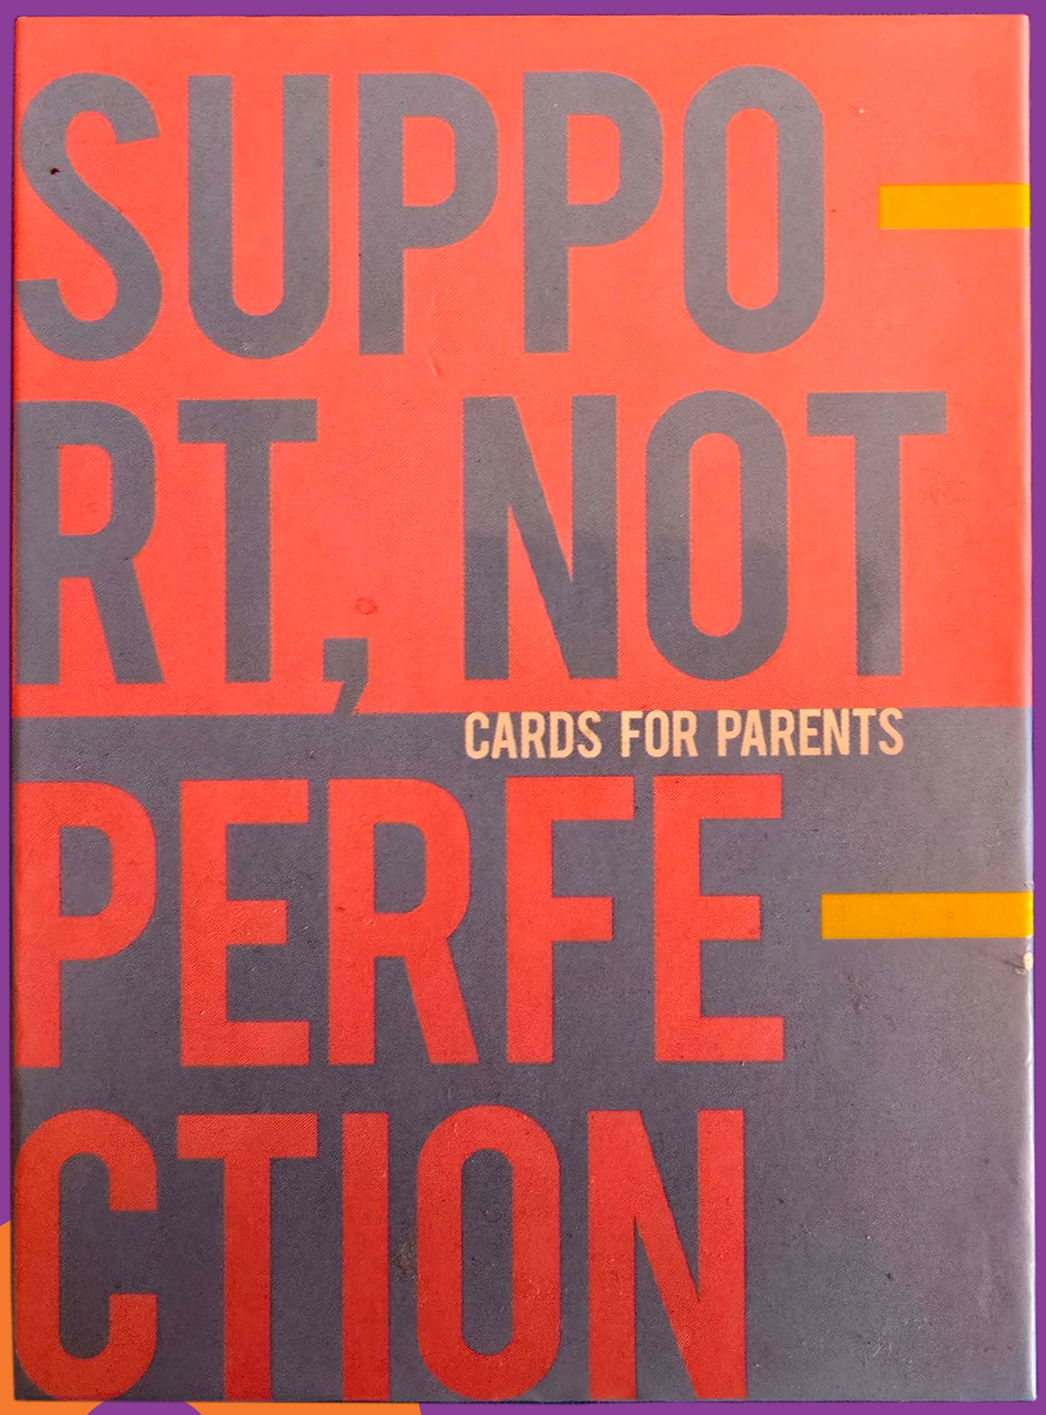

Physical activities such as yoga, Bothmer gymnastics and relaxation sessions further enrich the programme.

Volunteers from Generali Hungary play an active and valuable role in organising and delivering these activities.

Cards for parents

NOVAK DJOKOVIC FOUNDATION

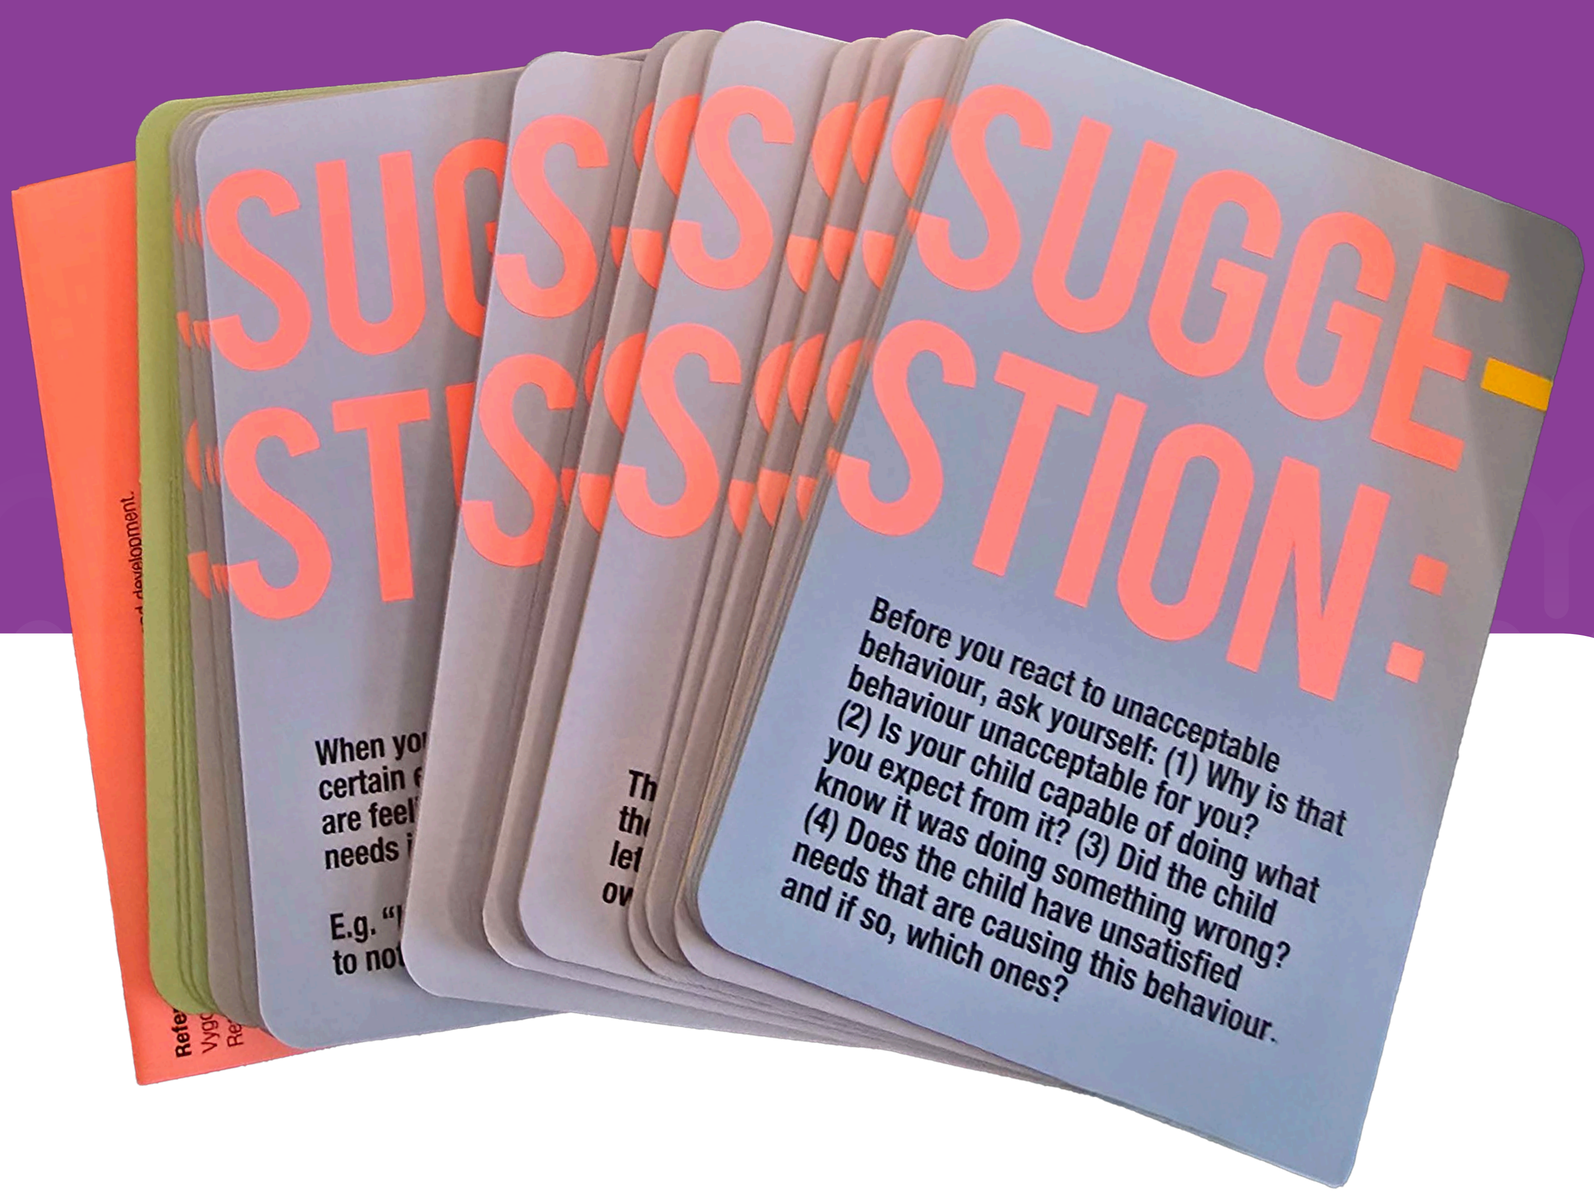

Support, not perfection, cards for parents

The cards are meant for parents to reflect, and the idea is that they pick one card where they'll get a fact and a suggestion that's actionable.

The cards are intended for both self-regulation and motivation of parents.

It's planned that the parent will draw one card once a week and try to apply the suggestion in everyday practice with the children. We believe that parents will get the card they need.

Vision - the primary driver of psychomotor development

NADACE LEONTINKA

First 1 000 Days Matter

The first 1 000 days of life are crucial for a child's development, with vision acting as the primary driver of psychomotor development.

The activity "The First 1 000 Days Matter" connects visual perception, motor skills, and proper early childhood care.

Key pillars:

VISUAL STIMULATION (0–3 years): Support fixation (high-contrast images, eye contact) and movement tracking. Develop accommodation and spatial perception without overwhelming the child with stimuli.

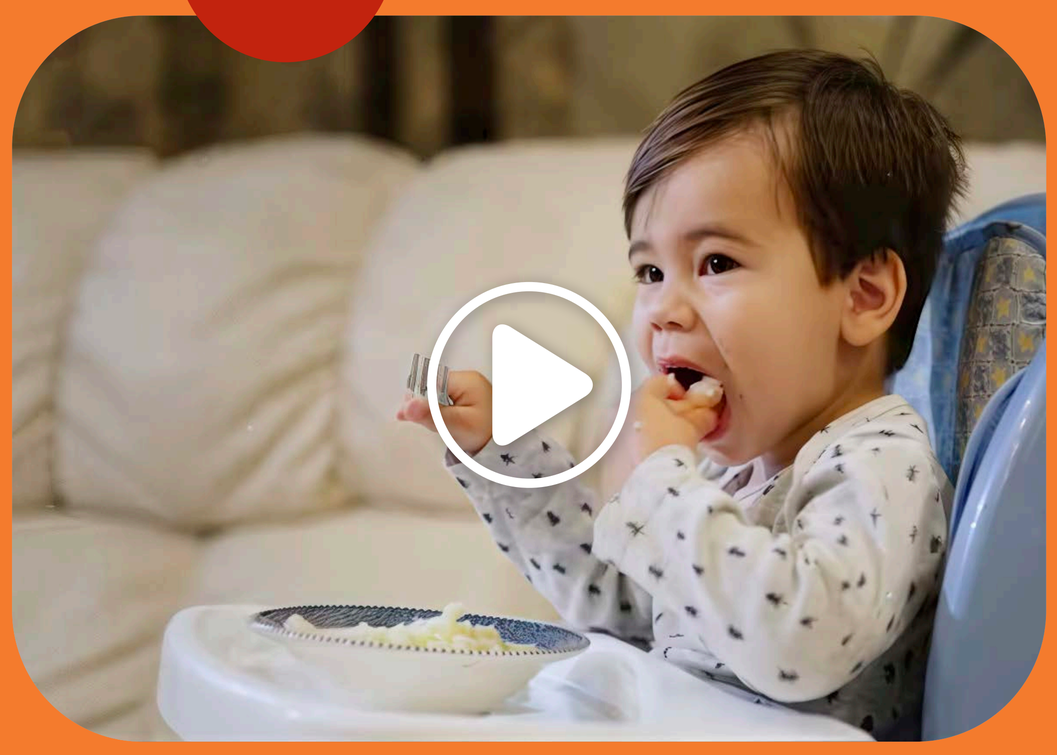

HANDLING AND MOVEMENT: Vision motivates movement, and movement expands the field of vision. Proper handling reinforces coordination between eyes, head, and trunk.

WARNING SIGNS: Lack of eye contact, eye rubbing, unnatural posture, or spatial uncertainty indicate a risk of visual impairment and require timely professional care.

Based on the concept that it promotes Emotional & Social Well-Being, this end-of-session workshop is one that children love!

Set in a warm, softly lit space with puppets and picture books, children gather autonomously to wind down at the end of the day. Guided gently by adults, they explore stories, spark imagination, and build peer bonds at their own pace—free from academic pressure.

KEY BENEFITS

Emotional well-being: A calm, low-stimulation space to relax and process the day.

Social connection: Deepens peer bonding and a sense of belonging through shared narratives.

Early literacy & curiosity: Sparks language development and a love for Literature without constraints.

Cançoner

ASSOCIACIÓ EDUCATIVA ITACA - ESPAI FAMILIAR

An opportunity to strengthen the parent-child bond.

Cançoner is a simple tool that transforms an everyday moment – the end of a session – into an opportunity to strengthen the parent-child bond.

In early childhood, transitions matter. Through a repeated ritual of songs, finger games, gestures and body expression, children aged 0–3 learn to recognise and anticipate the end of the session, building a sense of security while developing communication, language, movement and emotional regulation.

The Cançoner reflects Espai Familiar's philosophy: caring for educational moments by placing children's needs at the centre and respecting their individual rhythms.

For families, it creates a space of calm, closeness and quality time together, while offering simple, free resources that can be easily transferred to everyday life at home.

FAHELS Activities

HACIENDO CAMINO

Haciendo Camino – 20 Years Supporting Children and Families

We are presenting the activities that mothers have been carrying out as part of FAHELS over the past few months.

These are samples made by the mothers themselves, which have traveled all the way from Argentina to be shared with you here.

They are part of our Early Childhood Education at Home Program.

Design Thinking

BÜRGERSTIFTUNG AACHEN - ENTREPRENEURSHIP FOR NEWCOMERS

Design Thinking: Start with people, not solutions.

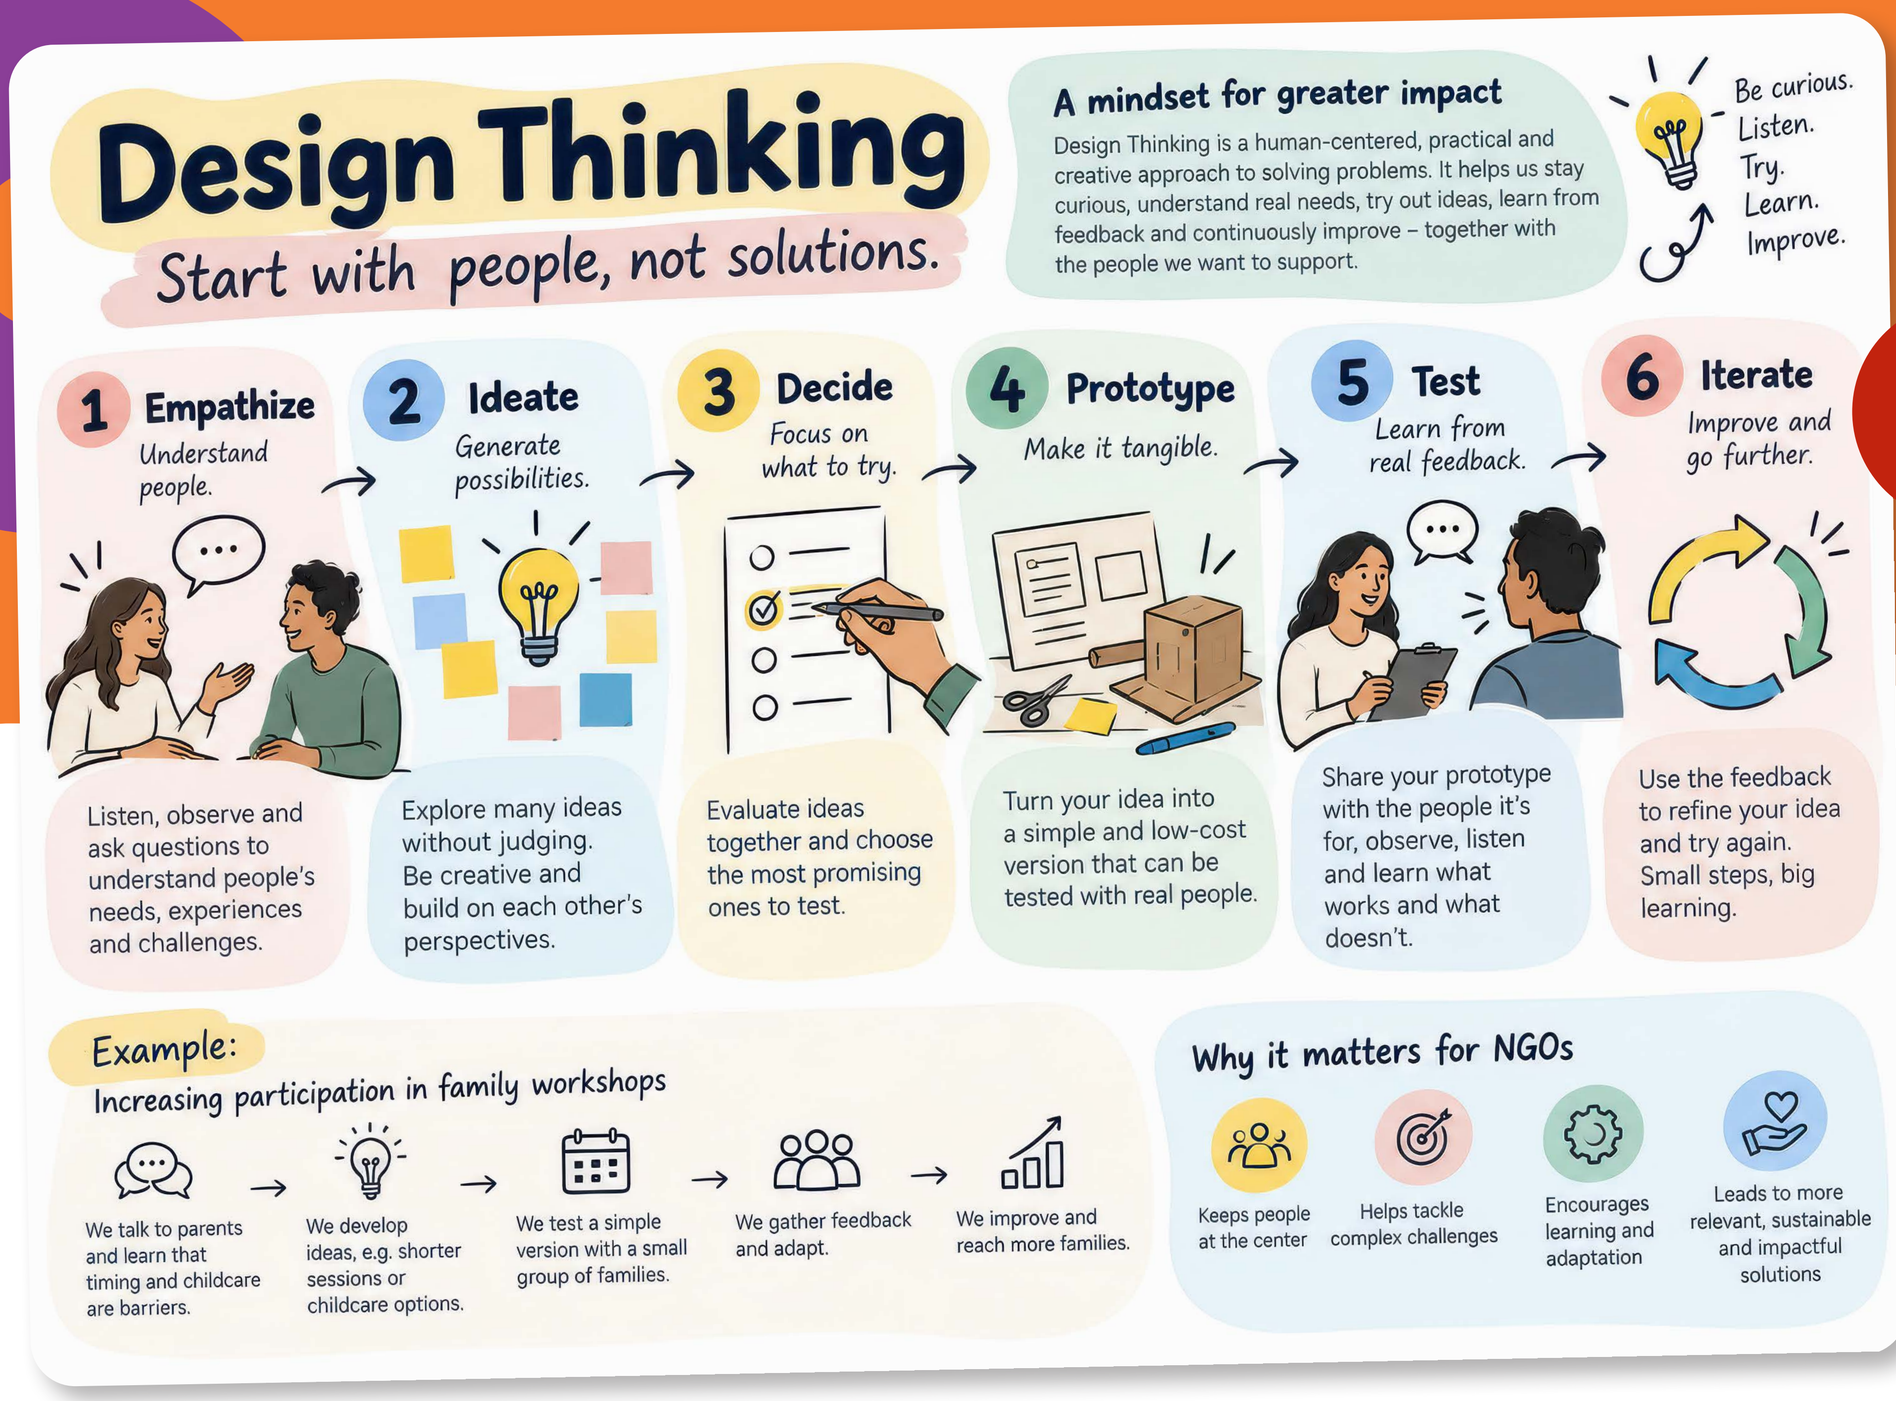

Design Thinking is more than a method – it is a mindset.

It encourages us to stay curious, listen before we act, question assumptions and see mistakes as opportunities to learn. This can be especially valuable for NGOs working with complex social challenges.

Empathize > Ideate > Decide > Prototype > Test > Iterate

Imagine families are not attending an NGO's workshops. Instead of assuming why, we talk to them first. We may discover that timing or childcare is the real barrier.

We develop ideas, test a simple change with a small group, learn from their feedback and improve. The goal is not to get everything right from the start, but to learn quickly and create solutions with people, not just for them.

Puzzle cubes, Child ID Card

BUDAPEST BRANCH OF THE HUNGARIAN RED CROSS

Play that builds skills. A card that keeps children safe.

The two tools we have developed share a common goal: to create engaging experiences for children while offering practical solutions that support their safety.

The puzzle cubes, used during our creative activities for children, help develop thinking, problem-solving skills, creativity and teamwork through play. Children can also sit on the cubes, while their eye-catching design helps communicate our messages and visual identity.

The bilingual Child ID Card can be filled in by parents with their child's key information and contact details, then placed in the child's pocket or bag. If a child gets lost or finds themselves in an unexpected situation, the card can help an adult provide assistance quickly and contact the child's family.

A Day in the Park: Celebrating Diversity, Encouraging Connections Through Play

The picture book «A Day in the Park» reflects the everyday lives of families in a diverse urban environment.

Its illustrations portray different cultures, family structures, and ways of life, allowing many families to see themselves represented.

The story is entirely wordless, inviting parents and children to create and share their own stories in their mother tongue. This makes the book accessible even to families with limited literacy skills.

At the same time, it highlights the joy and value of meeting other families and encourages readers to overcome isolation, explore public spaces, and enjoy play, exchange, and connection together.

Through this shared experience, parents discover how meaningful, enjoyable, and bonding looking at books together can be.

Learning for Life

ÚNIA MATERSKÝCH CENTIER

So That Dreams Don't Remain Just Dreams

A good start in life is not a given. For many families, it remains a dream out of reach. We don't want them to face parenthood alone. We welcome them into a community. Through Learning for Life, parents and children under six meet weekly at a local mothers' centre for eleven months.

Inspired by the Montessori approach, children learn through play, while parents discover their children's abilities alongside them. The groups are led by experienced women from the local community - mothers who understand the families' everyday lives and challenges. But the most important things happen between people. Strangers become friends, the group becomes a source of support, and parents who once doubted themselves begin to believe in their own abilities and in their children.

Triptico y cuaderno viajero para familias para ayudar a las familias en la crianza de sus hijos

FUNDACION EMMANUEL

Tips para ayudar a las familias en la crianza

El cuaderno viajero fomenta los encuentros en familia y tiempo de calidad entre padres e hijos para fortalecer el vìnculo y el desarrollo integral de los niños.

El trìptico brinda a las familias tips que ayudan a facilitar y mejorar la crianza de en los aspectos mas relevantes de la primera infancia. Alli se abordan temas como: berrinches, uso de pantallas, limites desde el afecto, etc.

Berrinches

Primero acompañamos la emoción, después acompañamos.

El berrinche puede ser una forma de expresar emociones que los niños todavía están aprendiendo a reconocer y regular. Pueden aparecer cuando sienten enojo, frustración, tristeza, cansancio o cuando algo no sucede como esperaban.

¿QUÉ PODEMOS HACER?

- Mantener la calma y hablar con tranquilidad.
- Acompañar sin burlarnos ni minimizar lo que sienten.
- Poner palabras a la emoción: "Entiendo que estás enojado porque querías seguir jugando."
- Sostener el límite, aunque haya enojo.
- Dar tiempo para que la emoción pueda pasar.
- Cuando estén tranquilos, conversar sobre lo sucedido

Pantallas

Menos pantalla, más juego y vínculo.
Durante los primeros años, los niños y niñas aprenden principalmente a través del juego, el movimiento, la exploración y el vínculo con otras personas.
Por eso, más que pensar solamente en cuánto tiempo pasan frente a una pantalla, podemos preguntarnos:
¿QUÉ ESTAMOS OFRECIENDO?

- Priorizar el juego libre y las actividades compartidas.
- Evitar que la pantalla sea la única forma de entretenerse.
- Evitar las pantallas durante las comidas y antes de dormir.
- No utilizarlas como única estrategia para calmar el enojo o el aburrimiento.
- Si se utilizan pantallas, elegir contenidos adecuados para la edad y, cuando sea posible, compartirlos con ellos.

Limites

Poner limites tambien es cuidar

Los niños y niñas necesitan limites para sentirse segurxs. Un limite no es un castigo, es una forma de enseñar que se puede hacer, que no y por qué.

Algunas ideas para acompañar

POCOS Y CLAROS

Elegir qu{e limites son realmente importantes y sostenerlos con constancia.

CON CALMA Y FIRMEZA

Podemos mantener un limite sin gritos, amenazas ni golpes.

EPLICAR LO QUE ESPERAMOS

Usar palabras sencillas para que puedan comprender que estamos esperando de ellos y ellas.

OFRECER ALTERNATIVAS POSIBLES

Cuando sea posible, marcar el limite y ofrecer otra opciones: "Eso no podemos hacerlo, pero podemos

Smart Seed Early Childhood Development Approach

COMMUNITY CHILDREN FOUNDATION (CCF)

Smart Seed: Six Everyday Elements for Positive Parenting and Early Learning

Smart Seed is a practical early childhood development approach that equips parents and ECCD caregivers with positive-parenting skills they can use in everyday life.

At its heart are six elements—Eat, Hug, Storytelling, Play, Dance/Movement and Drawing—designed to strengthen bonding, communication and early learning through simple daily interactions.

ECCD caregivers are trained to champion Smart Seed practices and support parents, while confident parents can become parent leaders or “buddies” who share the practices with other families. Short practical sessions, peer support, take-home materials, development-tracking tools and supportive ECCD spaces help sustain the practices at home and extend them across communities.

Puntómetro / Point System

FUNDACION SOCIAL UNIVERSAL

Come and learn about our POINT SYSTEM!

The Point System is an educational tool used at “Fundación Social Universal” to promote the acquisition and maintenance of appropriate rules, routines, and behaviours.

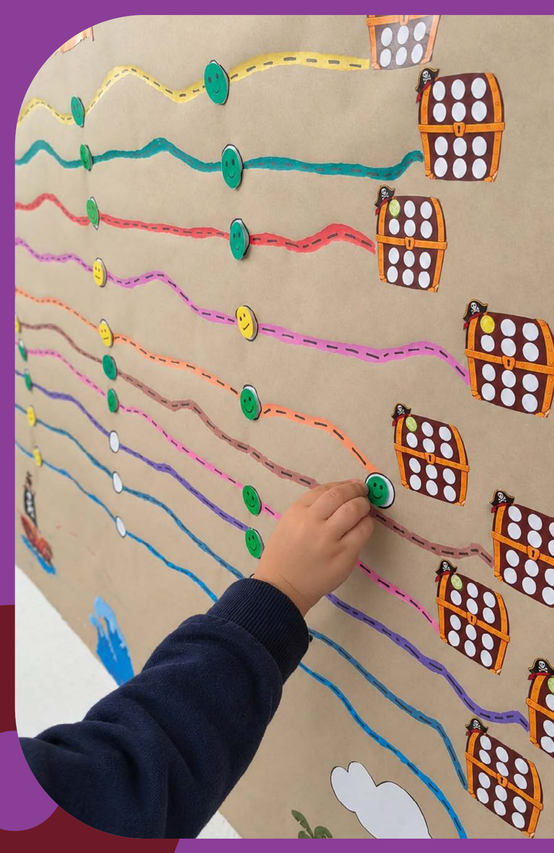

Its visual format allows children to clearly identify the goals they are achieving and those they need to improve, fostering responsibility, independence, and self-regulation. It also incorporates a positive reinforcement system, which recognises the children’s effort and consistency.

At the end of each week, children who have achieved the established goals can choose a reward, such as being the teacher’s helper, enjoying one minute on the trampoline, being the first to have their snack, or being first in line. The chosen reward is then carried out during the following week.

Board Game

IBU PROFESIONAL

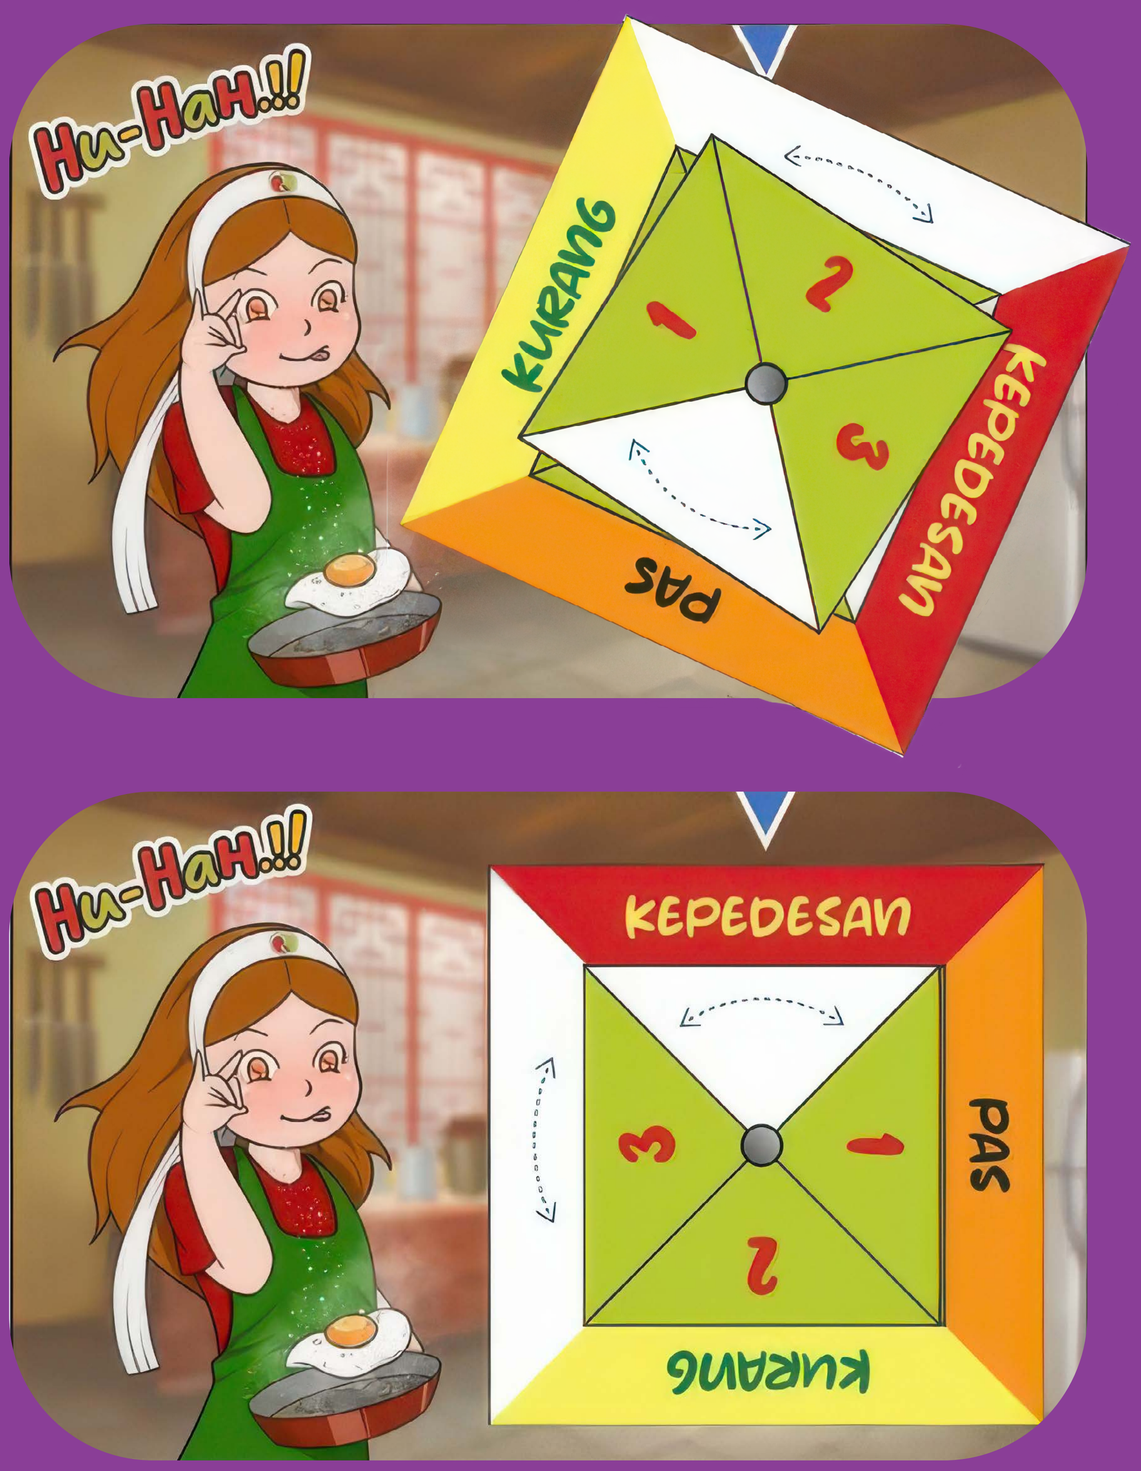

Play, Connect, and Grow with Hayoo, Takayo, Huh-Hah & Yuhuu Board Games

Hayo, Takayo, Huh-Hah, and Yuhuu are interactive board games designed to bring families closer through play, conversation, and meaningful shared experiences.

Each game creates a fun and safe space for parents and children to connect, express themselves, listen to one another, and build stronger relationships.

More than entertainment, these games turn everyday moments into opportunities for learning and bonding. Through simple activities, playful challenges, and engaging conversations, families can strengthen communication, understand each other better, and create joyful memories together.

Because meaningful family learning can begin with something as simple as sitting down, playing together, and being fully present.

The toolkit for volunteer-run Baby & Parent Spaces

RED FRENCH CROSS (CROIX ROUGE FRANÇAISE)

Baby and Parent Spaces: food aid, support and play for families with under-3s

Espaces Bébés Parents (Baby & Parent Spaces) are volunteer-run spaces for families in situations of precarity with children under 3.

Each space offers: food aid, individual interviews with referrals to local services, a friendly respite area for parents to meet, share and rest a play corner for children and workshops on parenting and early childhood.

Together they support parenting skills, break isolation and help families reach services they often do not use.

The network counts about 30 sites across 27 départements in France. We created the EBP Platform for volunteers. It includes: the EBP model, the steps to open a space and pratical resources. Come and explore it at our booth.

The youconnect Platform for Communication and Volunteer Management

YOUNUS MENTORING

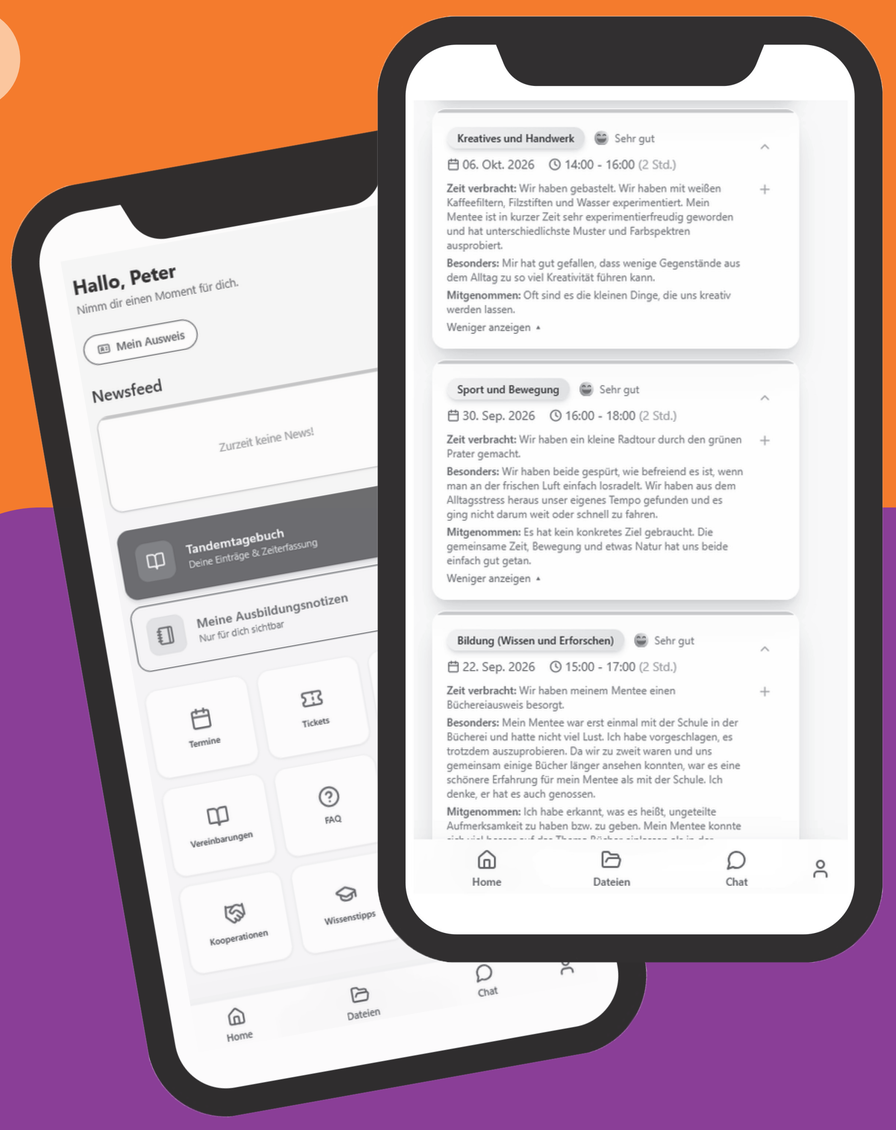

A Secure Digital Plattform Connecting Volunteer Mentors and Professionals

Youconnect is a digital platform developed by younus Mentoring to support structured, secure communication and coordination between volunteer mentors of children and the organisation's professional support teams.

The overall context is a growing mentoring programme with an increasing number of volunteers and rising demands on coordination, documentation, safeguarding and internal communication.

As the organisation expanded, existing tools were no longer sufficient to manage information flows, responsibilities and quality standards in a child and data sensitive setting. youconnect was developed as a pragmatic response to this organisational complexity within an NGO context.

Parole e immagini che si prendono cura

MAMME A SCUOLA

While mothers find their words, children discover a space of their own

A practical book using words and images to explore the care of children aged 0–3 with migrant mothers.

Room to Learn presents Mamme a Scuola's integrated approach for migrant mothers and their children aged 0–3.

While mothers learn Italian through "Parole e immagini che si prendono cura"—a practical book using words, images and activities about everyday childcare—their children are welcomed nearby in Spazio Bimbi.

Here, through a gradual settling-in process, play, books, songs and sensory activities, children experience early socialisation and build relationships beyond the family.

At the booth, visitors will discover these two parallel journeys and their wider impact: mothers gain language, confidence and connections; children gain opportunities for play and gradual independence; families become better equipped to participate in schools, services and community life.

Small Steps, Big Changes: Supporting Children and Families

JEDEN RODIČ, N. O.

Building stronger parent–child relationships through practical family support, peer assistance and community connection

We support families with young children through practical, individualised support directly in their homes. Peer assistants work with parents on everyday situations, child development and positive parent–child interaction, helping families build skills they can use in daily life.

We also connect families through inclusive community activities that create opportunities for shared learning, trusted relationships and peer connection. By combining support in the family with community-based activities, we aim to strengthen children's development, parental confidence and families' sense of belonging.

Our impact so far:

95% of parents reported an improvement in their relationship with their child, and 100% reported a change in how they spend time together. The programme currently supports 60 children in regular activities and has reached families through 18 community activities across 4 locations.

Babies, screens and language: a groundbreaking impact evaluation

1001MOTS

How do you measure impact on babies who can barely talk? Here's how we did it.

How do you measure impact on children who can barely talk? Early language isone of the strongest predictors of school success, yet data before age 3 is rare, tools are scarce, and reliable results require many children.

At 1001mots, a French NGO helping low-income parents boost their baby's language, wedesigned a rigorous and innovative evaluation with Eval-Lab, founded by aformer J-PAL economist. We compared 500 families near Paris: 250 supportedby our program and 250 not yet supported. Our speech therapists ran astandardized parent questionnaire by phone with children aged 16 to 30 months.

Results: weekly screen time halved, 1.8x more parents reading daily, and children at very high risk of language delay down from 21% to 9%. Now, these results help us convince partners to scale up.

Picnic activity for kids and moms

CARITAS POLAND

Family picnics

Caritas Poland, in partnership with Generali Poland and THSN, runs the Good Start programme at 14 Caritas centres across Poland.

The programme supports mothers in developing essential life and parenting skills. Participants learn how to build safe and supportive relationships with their children, use non-violent parenting methods, understand their children's needs at different stages of development, and communicate respectfully and in line with their family values.

Family picnics are one of the programme's effective ways of helping participants develop these skills and strengthen parent-child relationships.

Activities - cooking, baking, arts and crafts demonstrate how spending creative time together can reinforce family bonds while fostering closeness and a sense of community.

Growing through words, play and relationships

CENTRO PER LA SALUTE DELLE BAMBINE E DEI BAMBINI

Visual and play resources for professionals and families to nurture relationships.

Carte in rima:

a colorful deck of cards designed to enrich vocabulary and stimulate imagination, in a wide range of activities for children aged 3 to 6, that encourages parents and children to play with words, sounds, and images.

Io imparo con te:

A book that accompanies the International Guide for Monitoring Child Development (GMCD), a tool developed by an international team led by developmental pediatrician Professor Ilgi Ertem. It can be used by professionals to promote early childhood development and responsive parenting, as well as by parents and caregivers together with their children. For children, it conveys a simple message: “Look at me. This is who I am. Stay by my side, and I will soar.” Every child needs trust and support: an adult who provides guidance without taking over, and the freedom and time to discover their own ways of playing, thinking, and learning.

The Italian version of the Guide and its training materials were developed by CSB under the scientific supervision of the international experts who developed and validated the original instrument.

Empowering Candidates, Opening Institutions

JOBS4REFUGEES GGMBH

Vielfalt im Dienst – Opening Germany's Public Sector to New Talent

Germany's public sector is the country's largest employer. As baby boomers retire, hundreds of thousands of jobs must be filled - in schools, childcare, healthcare, IT and administration.

Many refugees bring exactly the skills needed: degrees, experience, multilingualism. Yet few apply, held back by missing information (a German passport is often not required), complex administrative language, slow recognition of qualifications and rigid job profiles.

Vielfalt im Dienst works on both sides: we prepare candidates through coaching, workshops, job shadowing and language cafés and connect them with public employers, while helping HR teams reduce barriers through plain-language job ads, flexible requirements and diversity training.

Our goal: a public sector that reflects the society it serves.

Job Search Manual for Beneficiaries and Social Workers

ITALIAN RED CROSS - MILAN BRANCH

Looking for a job? Suggestions, guidelines and intercultural dialogues

Each chapter of this handbook illustrates a topic that the authors believe is important to know for a job seeker in Milan; the hope is that it can be useful to readers in their own job search.

Job seekers can read it from beginning to end, or just skip to the chapters that suit their interests and needs. In addition to some themes more closely related to job seeking, this handbook contains useful information about specific practices and languages of the labor market.

All of the advice given comes from concrete, observed, real-life situations that of course represent only a small part of the whole: most of a job seeker's know-how and understanding of what it's like to look for a job, engage in an interview and actively start working in Milan will come through experience. Job seekers are the only ones who can figure out what works best for their own situation.

Défi KODIKO
an interactive workshop on exile and refugee integration in France

KODIKO

An immersive, team-based workshop to understand refugees' journeys and foster inclusion.

Participants follow Ibrahim, a Sudanese refugee who shares his journey from exile to integration in France. Through his personal story and interactive challenges, they explore migration facts, legal statuses, administrative processes, barriers to integration, and the support ecosystem.

The workshop encourages employees to reflect on the role of businesses in refugee inclusion, improve recruitment and onboarding practices, and take concrete action through initiatives such as Kodiko's mentoring programme and solidarity projects.

Half-day, in person, for groups of 10–12 participants, facilitated by the Kodiko team, with a collective debrief and discussion.

Powermap

ROCK YOUR LIFE! SCHWEIZ

Become aware of your achievements and resources.

Personal and professional growth happens step by step.

Through the Powermap, we review mentees' goals, understand where they are in their journey, recognize their progress, and help them identify the resources they need to continue moving towards their goals.

During the final workshop, young people reflect on:

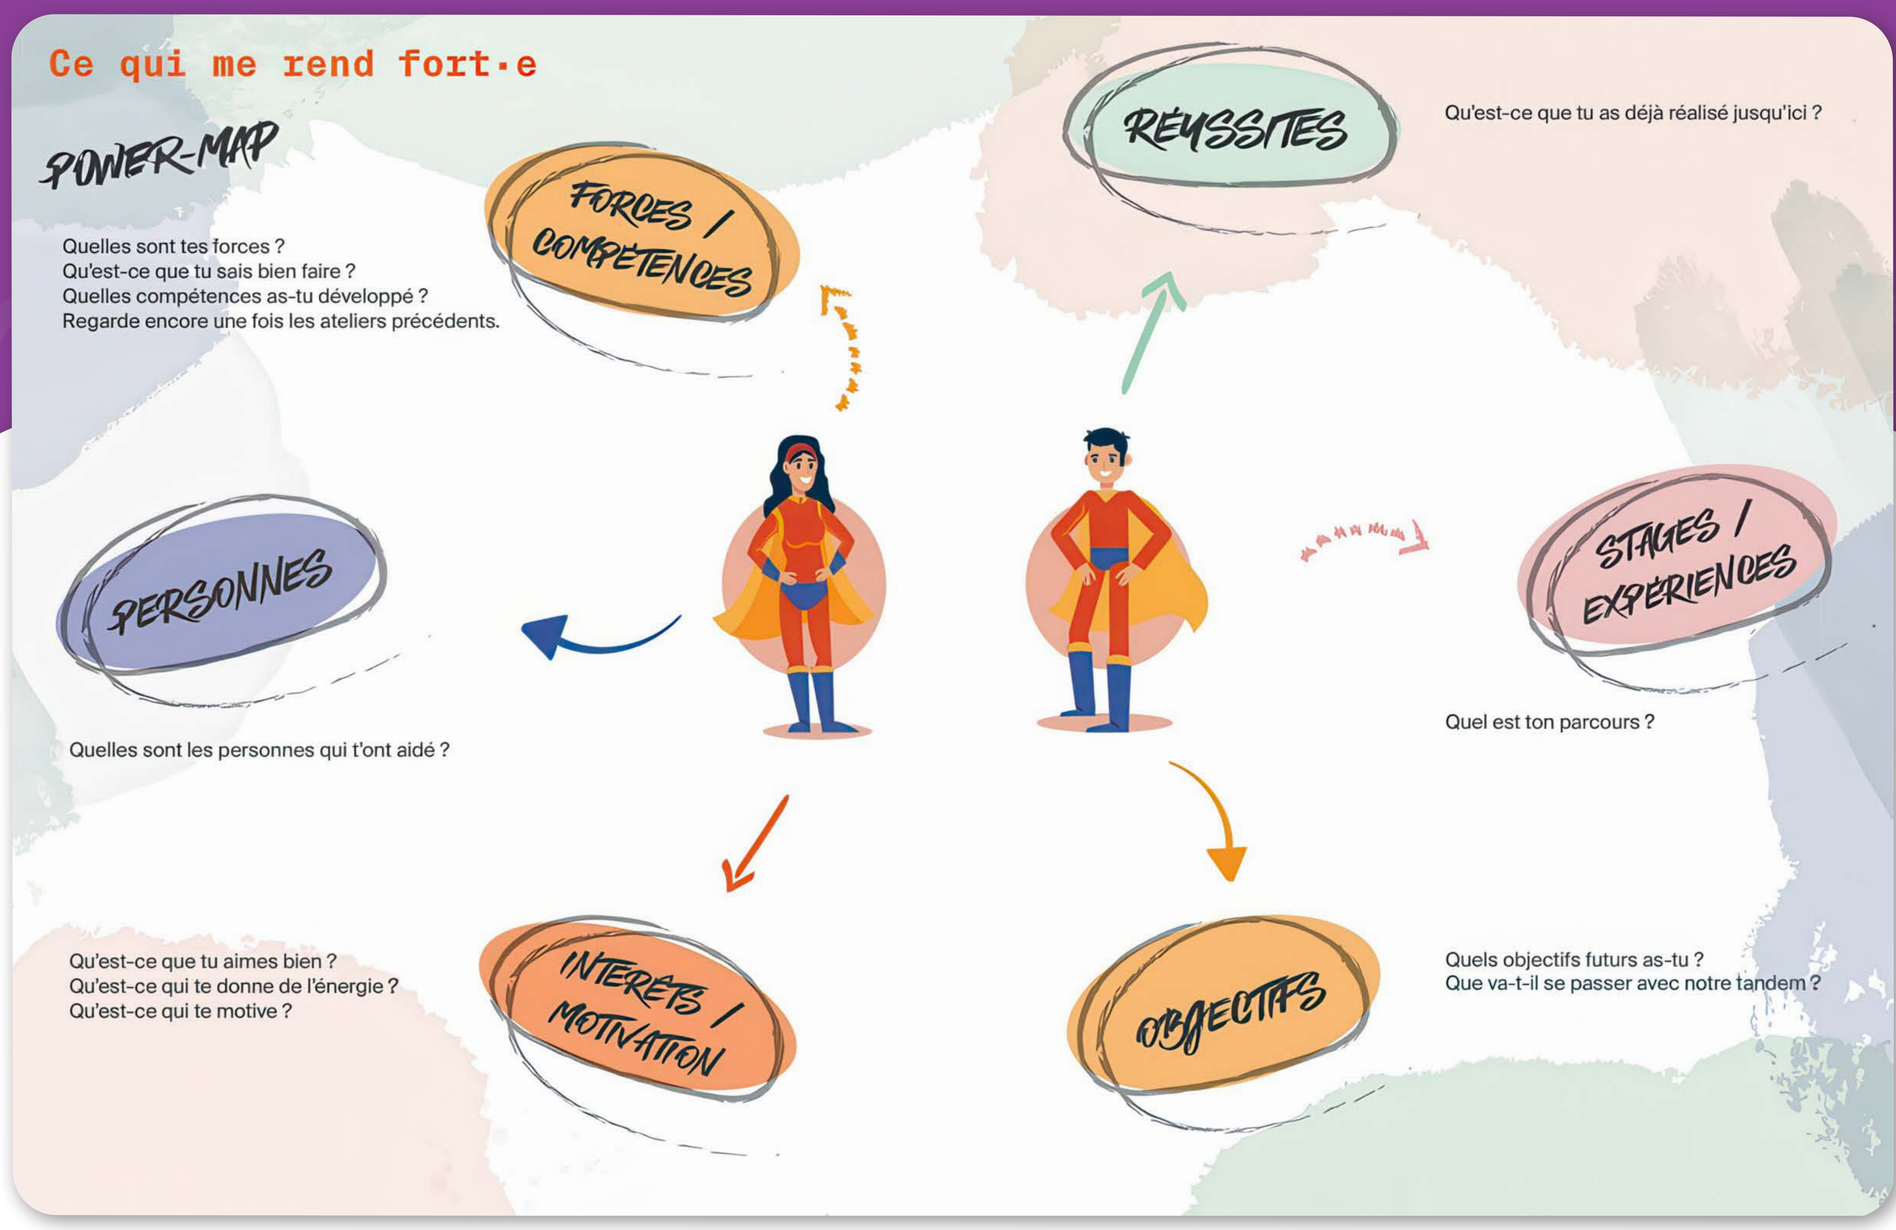

> everything they have achieved and learned;

> what has changed since the beginning of the mentoring programme;

> the people and resources that support them along the way.

Achieving goals often involves both successes and challenges.

By helping young people reflect on their journey and build on their strengths, ROCK YOUR LIFE! Schweiz aims to empower them to reach their full potential.

Entrepreneurs Survey

SOLIDARITÉ MIGRANTS ENTREPRENEURS (SME)

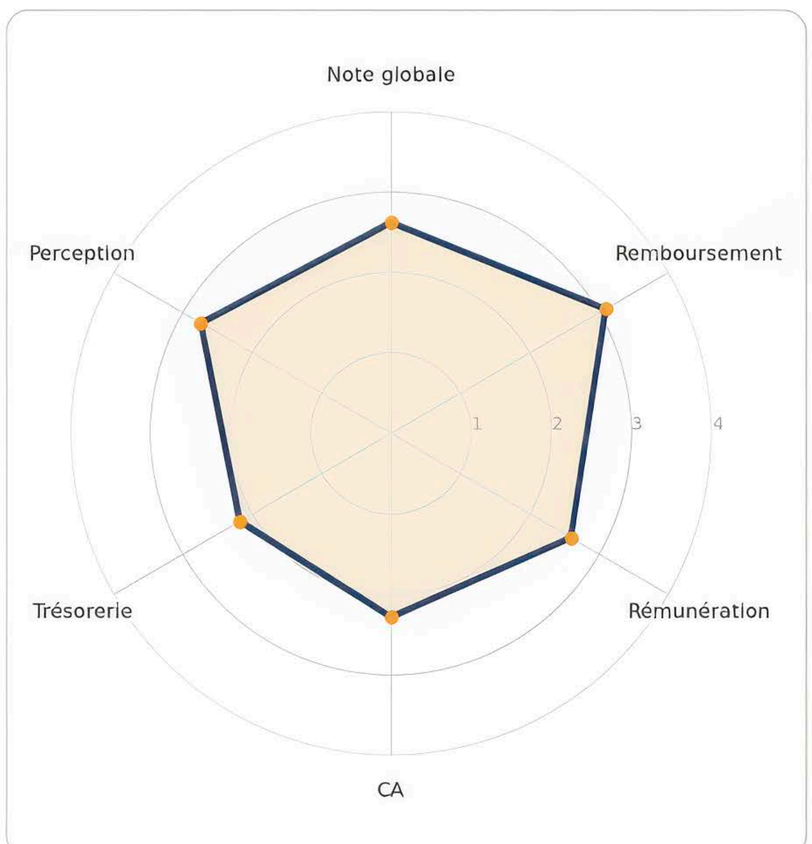

Survey of the success and difficulties of the Entrepreneurs funded by SME

For 5 years, our association has been supporting migrant entrepreneurs, from the initial idea through to the launch of their business and its on going development.

We wanted to measure the real impact of our support on the situation of 64 different projects we have funded.

L’indicateur de santé globale

2,62 / 4
note moyenne sur l’ensemble de la cohorte

The overall average score stands at 2,64 across the entire cohort.

Taken on its own, this figure may seem modest. However, it should be read in light of the weighting the organization chose to apply: loan repayment and the ability to pay oneself a salary carry greater weight in the calculation than the business plan indicators (cash flow and revenue).

This choice reflects our conviction: honoring financial commitments and being able to generate an income are the pillars of the entrepreneur's dignity and of the sustainability of our nonprofit model.

The Matching tool

DUO FOR A JOB

Better matching, bigger impact

At DUO for a JOB, we use a tried-and-tested methodology to match young people with mentors.

We meet each participant and draw up a profile detailing their career plans, the factors that make them vulnerable, their personality, their ideal mentor profile, their interests, and of course their availability and mobility.

Each profile is carefully assessed to find the right mentor. Thanks to this matching tool, 70% of mentees find a positive solution to their job search. Now it's your turn! Read the mentees' profiles and match them with the best mentors.

Inclusive Entrepreneurship Summit

KIZ SINNOVA GGMBH / PERSPEKTIVE NEUSTART

Inclusive Entrepreneurship in Action – Visibility. Access. Impact.

Let’s create an entrepreneurial ecosystem that works for everyone.

As a nationwide network, we are striving for more visibility, better access, and stronger impact for female and newcomer entrepreneurs.

The Summit connects diverse founders with supporters from mentoring, consulting, funding, politics, business, chambers, and job centers.

We talk about barriers – and how to overcome them. We highlight potential – and how to unlock it.

And we proudly present the first Inclusive Entrepreneurship Award in Germany – celebrating outstanding ideas, bold journeys, and true social impact.

Spheres of Control

CAPACITY

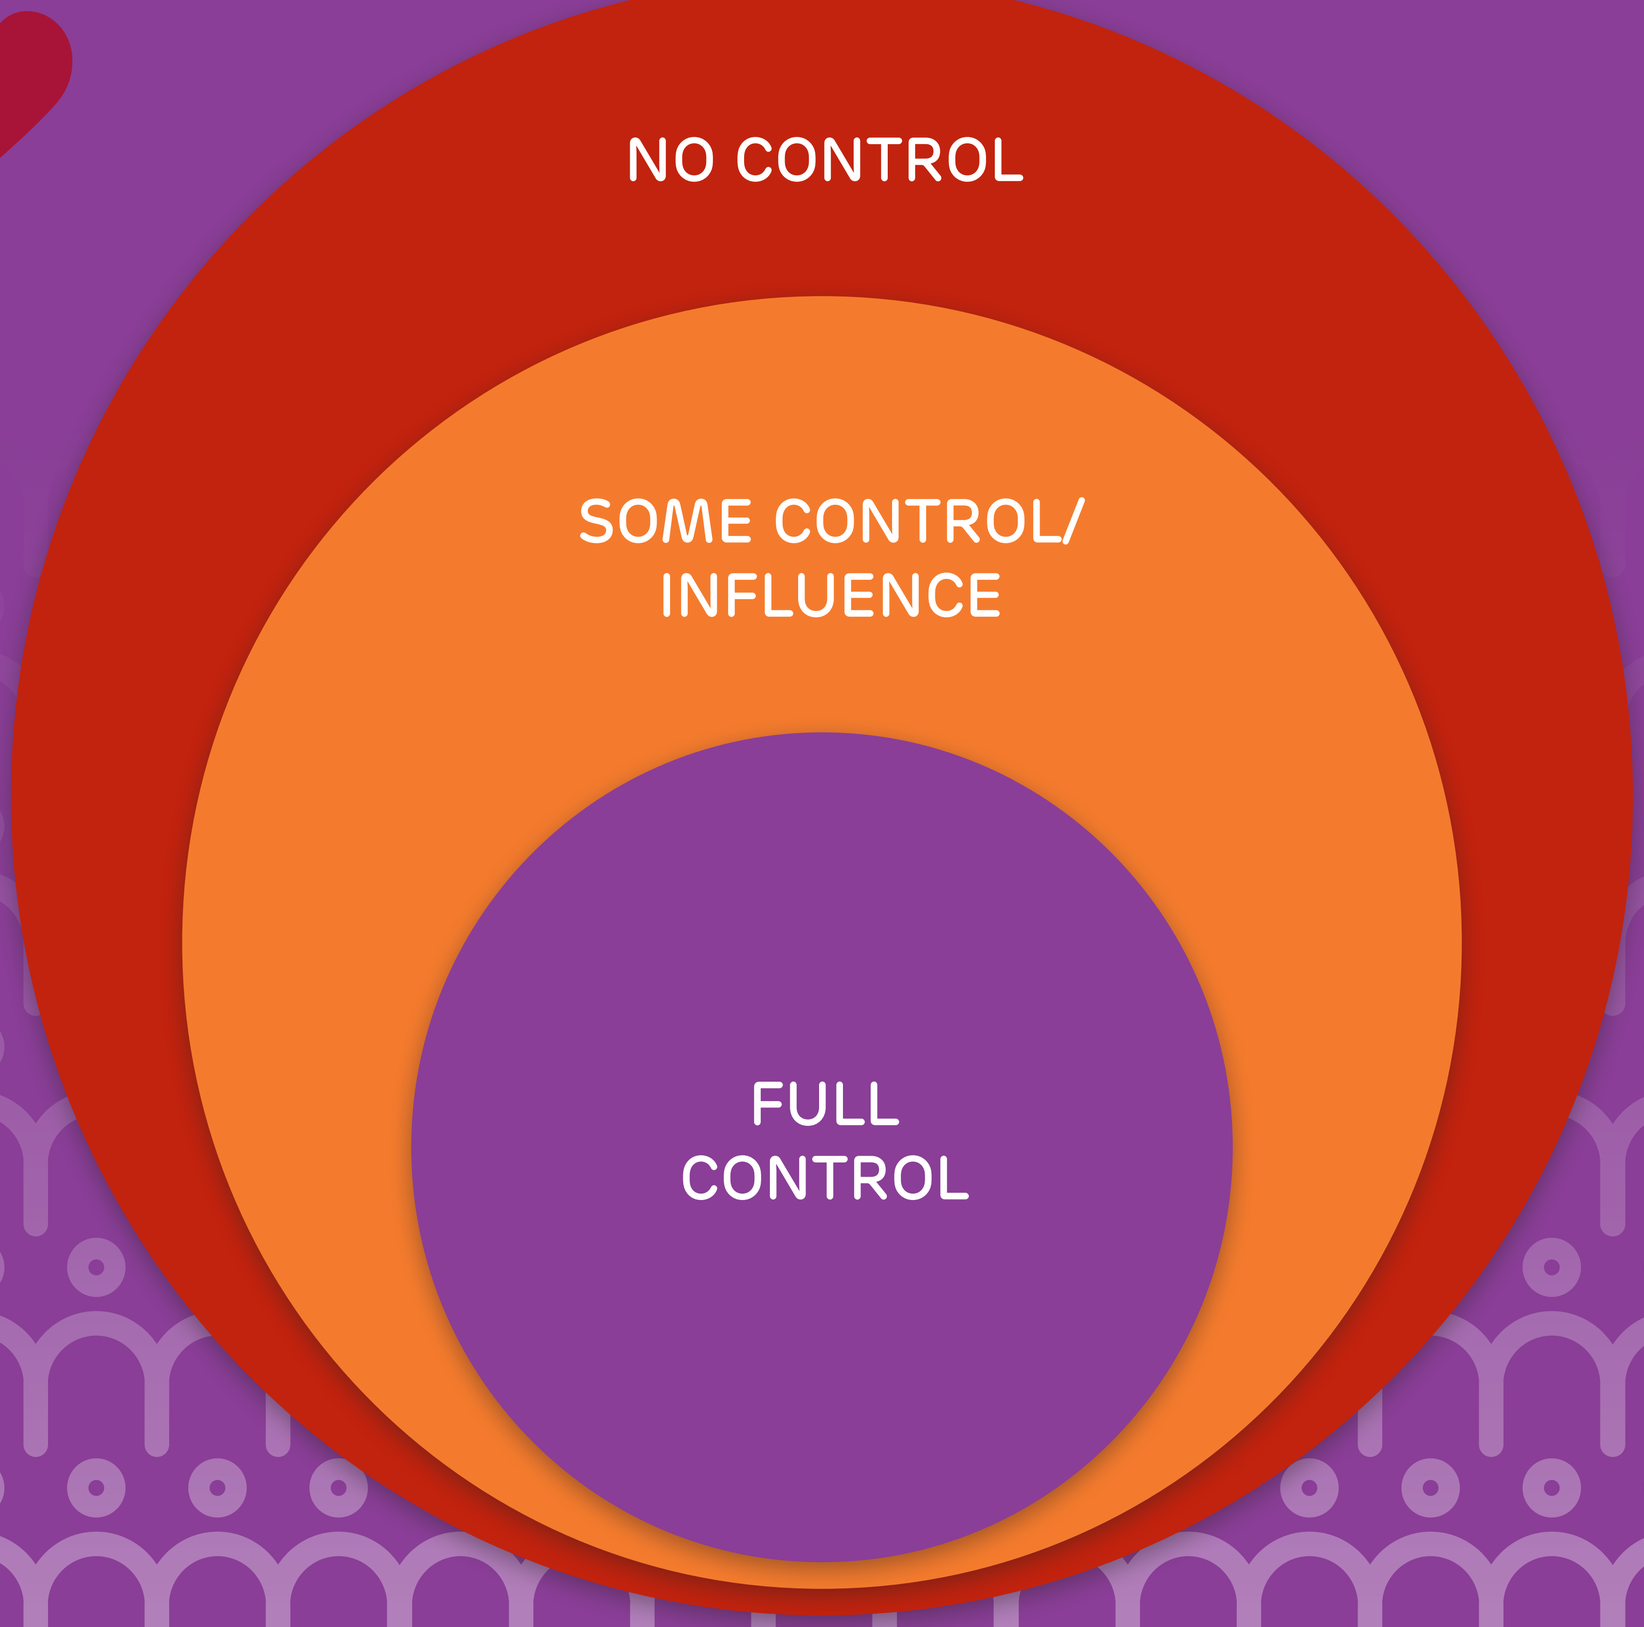

Spheres of Control Identify where to invest your energy

The exercise is designed to help participants gain clarity, recognise their scope for action and turn broad concerns into manageable goals.

Discussing similar challenges across different spheres invites participants to consider new perspectives and learn from one another.

It also creates a shared starting point for peer support and goal-setting. Recognising what lies beyond personal control helps distinguish individual responsibility from structural barriers.

Participants can acknowledge these difficulties while identifying actions and support available to them.

Artisanal intelligence

LA COMETA

New possibilities begin with our hands. Every talent can flourish.

Cometa's educational journey. From discarded chairs to one-of-a-kind pieces. Every talent can flourish. Chairs that would otherwise be thrown away are recovered, reimagined and transformed. Making things — and learning to make them well — becomes a journey of discovery, bringing out skills, creativity and individual potential.

The chair is not replaced. We start with what is already there, look at it with fresh eyes and, through care, craftsmanship and beauty, give it a new form.

The same approach guides education at Cometa: recognising the value of each person and walking alongside them as they discover their potential and allow it to flourish. Education is not about turning someone into somebody else. It is about helping each person become fully themselves.

The candidate journey redesigned

eachOne

Every step in a candidate's journey counts, so no talent gets left behind.

each One keeps refining its candidate journey so that no candidate gets lost before being matched with the right programme and employer.

In 2021, 1 in 5 screening calls went unanswered and under half of candidates attended selection day. After many iterations, each One has built an automated, data-driven backbone by early 2026: pages that instantly redirect candidates missing a prerequisite, self-service booking with email and text message reminders, and ads optimised for qualified applicants via google analytics and Meta tracking.

Technology frees our teams for what matters: faster call-backs, a phone helpline, better-trained selection panels and sector-specific sessions. As a result: 57% attendance at selection days, 1 in 2 candidates selected, 70% attendance at employer interviews.

THE CURRENT CANDIDATE JOURNEY

Six steps, one journey.

Selection day

Check-in (we check that all the information recorded so far is correct), a written French test and a motivation interview with a selection panel.

Information session

each One and the employer present the job and the training, so candidates can picture themselves in the role.

Employer interview

A final interview with the future employer, the last step before training starts.

THSN Luxembourg
Solidarity microMarkets

MICROLUX

Connecting local entrepreneurs with Generali employees through festive markets

Each December, microlux, in collaboration with THSN Luxembourg, brings entrepreneurs it finances and coaches into Generali workplaces for a lunchtime solidarity market.

Employees meet the entrepreneurs, discover their products and services, and shop for St Nicholas and Christmas gifts. The format gives entrepreneurs direct access to new customers, visibility and a chance to test their offer in a friendly setting, while engaging employees in local inclusive entrepreneurship.

Launched with one Generali entity in 2024, it expanded to two in 2025 and will reach three entities in Luxembourg in 2026.

IM AI

REDI SCHOOL OF DIGITAL INTEGRATION

IM AI – Free, inclusive and Human Centered AI Education

IM AI is a free, self-paced AI learning platform by ReDI School.

AI is becoming a basic requirement for employability, education, and civic participation.

Most AI education assumes prior technical skills, digital confidence, and stable technology access. Many learners disengage before they start, not for lack of ability but because they do not feel entitled or supported to learn.

IM AI addresses this gap. It focuses on building confidence, understanding, and practical use of AI, rather than just technical skills.

The goal is to ensure learners can engage with AI safely, responsibly, and with dignity.

Welcome Alliance Fund “Stay & Belong”

PROJECTTOGETHER

A public-private fund for simple, participatory and transparent funding

The Welcome Alliance Fund is an innovative funding instrument, developed by the federal government, foundations, companies and the Welcome Alliance. Partners include The Human Safety Net by Generali, Robert Bosch Foundation, Porticus Foundation and Postcode Lottery. The Fund supports projects and initiatives in the context of migration and integration.

The fund pursues three objectives:

- Strengthen partnerships by pooling public, philanthropic and corporate resources.
- Simplify access through prize money and lump sums, with lower entry barriers and lighter reporting.
- Embed participation through a Fund Advisory Board with cross-sector and community perspectives.

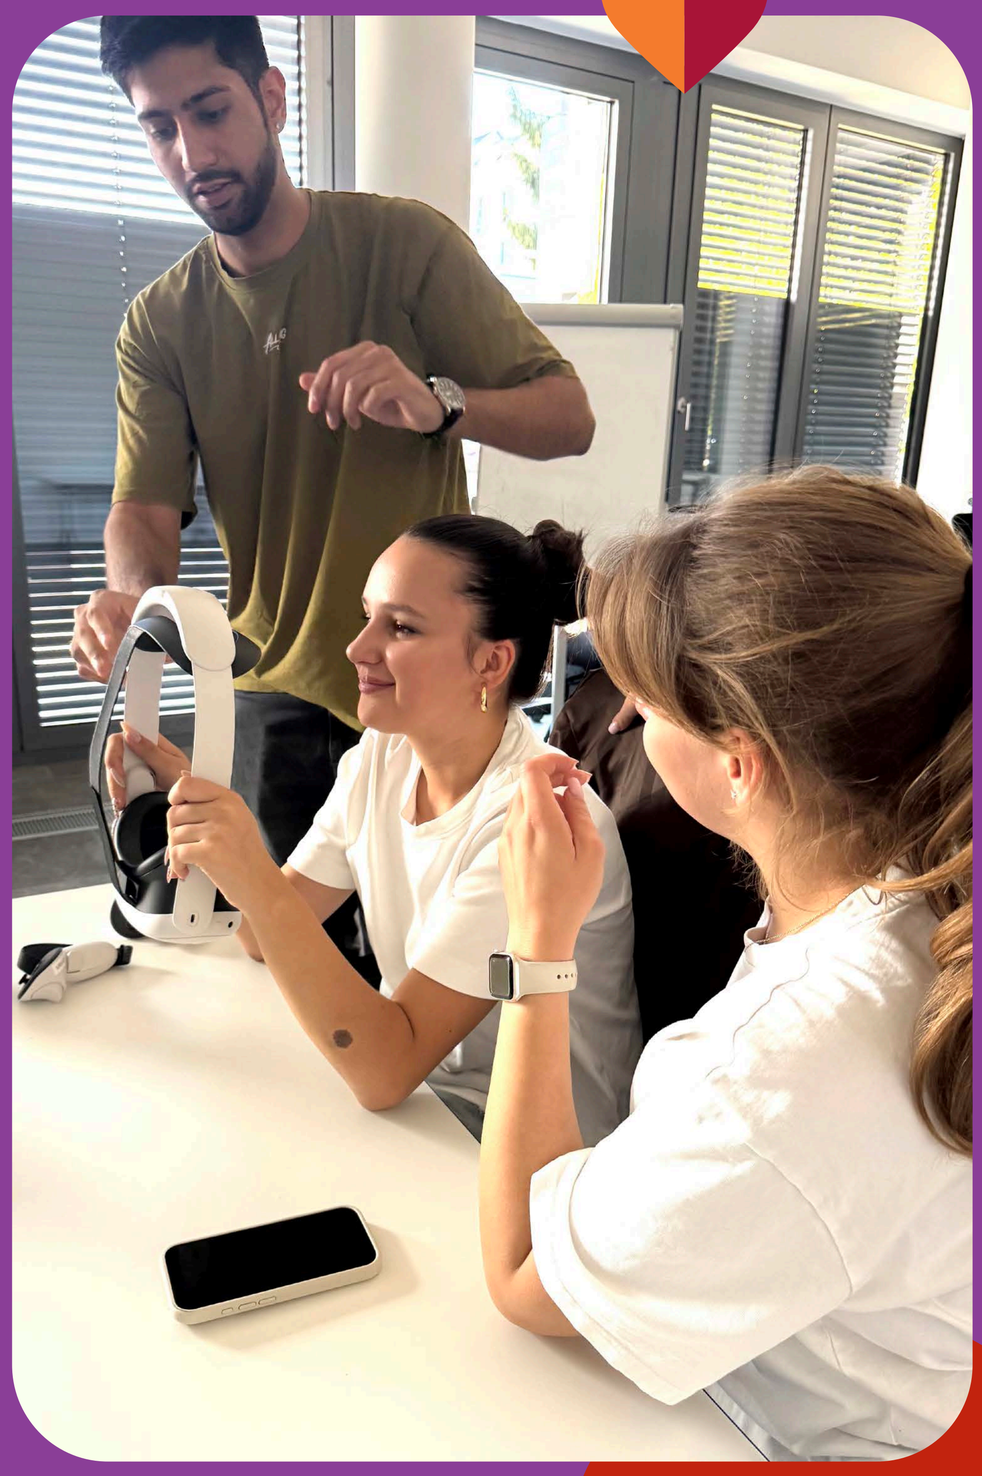

In 2024 and 2025, the fund supported more than 50 organisations with EUR 3.7 million. In 2026 the fund is still running.

Pitch Training for international founders

FITT GGMBH

How Can I Present My Business Idea Convincingly in German?

Presenting a business idea in different situations and formats is one of the biggest challenges our participants face.

At the end of the cohort, the founders from our incubator will take the stage in a cinema and pitch their business ideas to an audience of 150 guests on site and another 250 joining online.

Coming from different countries, many of them face a major challenge: presenting their ideas confidently in German, especially under the pressure of a live pitch.

That is why we developed an intensive, multi-stage pitch training program. Step by step, participants strengthen their message, delivery, language, and stage presence so that each founder can present their business idea with confidence, clarity, and authenticity.
